Complete List of Candidates For July Primary Election Listed For Voters of Randall County

The Democratic County Executive Committee was in session Monday afternoon in the district court room for the purpose of drawing for names on the July primary ballot; selecting election judges; and making assessment of candidates for the purpose of providing for the Democratic primaries in July and August.

Only two candidates appeared before the committee. Joe Thompson, candidate for county attorney, raised the question of the eligibility of his opponent, Gene McGlasson, to serve as it has been reported to him that McGlasson will not have resided in the county for the required six months time before the date of the general election in November. A written protest was filed by Thompson, based upon information he had received. McGlasson is required to present evidence that he will be a legal resident of the county by Saturday or will be barred from the ticket.

The question of division of the office of County and District Clerk arose when Mrs. Ethel Mullins filed Saturday as a candidate for the office of District Attorney. Tommy Lair had filed for re-election to the office of County and District Clerk before the census figures had been announced. After hearing opinions from the Attorney General, based upon cases which had been before the Supreme Court of Texas, the committee reached the decision that there was nothing else to do but divide the offices. Mrs. Mullins becomes a candidate for District Clerk, and Mr. Lair becomes a candidate for County Clerk.

A surprise candidate Saturday was L. S. Johnston, who filed for the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector. Mr. Johnston was formerly a member of the Commissioners Court, and was a candidate for the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector two years ago.

Another last minute candidate was Newton Crain, who was petitioned by 25 voters as a candidate for County Chairman. Clyde W. Warwick had filed his application for re-election several weeks ago, but withdrew when the petition of Crain was received.

The case of J. E. McDonald, candidate for re-election to the office of Commissioner of Agriculture was considered. He had been barred from the ballot by the State Committee and was not certified as a candidate. McDonald has brought a mandamus suit, and the Randall County Executive Committee has been named as a party to the suit. It was decided that the committee draw for a place for McDonald on the ballot, and if the case has been decided by the time the ballots are printed that his name will or will not appear on the official printed ballots, according to the court decision.

The following is a complete list of candidates for all offices which will (Continued on last page)

The News is authorized to announce the candidacy of Mrs. Ethel Mullins, who is running for the office of the newly created District Clerk.

Other civic improvements secured for Electra were a new post office building, new home-owned utility plant, new parks and welfare offices—and worked on many other projects such as horse shows, benefit programs, style shows, beauty contests.

Recreation Is Drawing Large Number People

Canyon's new recreation department played host to 514 Randall County children the first week of operation.

The two playgrounds and the swimming lessons were popular spots throughout the past week when children from all parts of Canyon and Randall county gathered to take part in the activities. The swimming pool was over crowded when 248 children reported for the free swimming lessons that are being offered by the recreation department and the college pool manager. The class had to be divided into two groups and lessons were changed and given each day instead of only three times a week. Classes are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday for one group and Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday for the other.

New activities are to be included in the activities at the playgrounds this coming week. Art and drawing will be taught by Geo. Turner, a student at W. T. Rosey Bates will teach baton twirling. The Future Teachers of America will conduct a story hour. Dramatics will be taught by Mary Ann Massey and Beth Kimbrough, and there will be movies and other events each week. Other activities will be added to the program throughout the summer.

For the hours of these special events you may get in touch with the playground directors or the recreation department. The playgrounds are located at the Canyon High School and the Buffalo Food-bell field and are open in the mornings from 8:30 to 10:30 and in the afternoons from 3 to 6. Plans are being made to accommodate every child in the Canyon area and it is hoped they will take advantage of the program that has been set up for their benefit, by the citizens of Canyon and vicinity.

The Canyon News is the Blue Ribbon weekly newspaper of Texas in its population bracket!

For the second time in recent years The Canyon News has won the General Excellence Trophy Cup offered by the Texas Press Association, which is the highest honor awarded in competition with a group of 65 weekly newspapers of the State. These competitors are all high class publications.

Citizens of Randall county are invited to view the display of trophies which are now on display in the east window of the News building, all of which were won Saturday in Fort Worth at the 71st Annual Convention of the Texas Press Association.

The cup of general excellency was won because of the first place wins in three classes of competition. Plaques were won in each of these classes, together with ribbons and certificates.

First in advertising, 100 points. This plaque was won on the type selection, composition of the advertising, and the use of illustrations in the advertising.

First in presswork, typography and makeup, 100 points. The Canyon News has always prided itself in the excellency of its press work and the clear print of its newspaper. The pages have been carefully made up week after week in order that all advertising be placed to the best advantage for the benefit of the advertisers. A careful selection of type for news story headings as well as advertising is essential in winning this trophy.

100 points. The News probably has the most extensive file of news pictures and cuts of any weekly in Texas. The News won a cup years ago on this one phase, which was given by a Dallas Engraving Company.

The Canyon News was the only newspaper in Texas of the 85 entered in the contests, both weekly and daily, which won a perfect score in all three classes in which it was entered.

Vern Sanford, manager of the Texas Press Association, stated that all judging was done this year by out-of-state experts who had years of experience in their various fields. "To win a perfect score in any contest is a distinct honor," stated Sanford, who has been manager of TPA for the past three years.

Life After 50 Is Discussed by Well Qualified British Doctor

Every now and then, we run across information that we think might be interesting to our readers. Here's an item that should be of particular interest to our male readers.

Fifty is the dangerous age for men, says an eminent British psychologist, who points out that some time between 45 and 50, a man realizes that what he is, he is, and there is no turning back.

All of his life, says the doctor, the man may have been dissatisfied with his job and his status in the world, looking upon both as temporary conditions to be altered when his "dreams" come true. Around fifty, however, the hoped-for "lucky break" becomes an uncertainty and the individual must give up the relief that he has found in his "dreams."

There are only two ways out of the difficulty for men at this age, according to the doctor. One is the way of regression, to close one's eyes to the facts of life and go back to an earlier and probably lower level. Changing occupations and swapping wives, in the belief that success in a big way is just ahead, is one expression of this way. Another is to live through one's children, identifying the youngsters with himself and attempting to direct their lives along the line that the father would have liked to have led himself.

The only sensible way out, says the doctor, however, is to frankly recognize one's age and recognize that, so far as himself is concerned, much personal advancement is through. Then, forgetting himself, to live for his children, or others, as they are, rather than as he would like them to be, and thus take up some worthy cause in the world.

There is sense in the observations of the British doctor but, just the same, there is a chance that he has not stated the entire possibilities that exist for a man at this dangerous age. Admitting that a man may labor willingly, for years, under the impression that his work and his status are temporary and that between 45 and 50, he comes to the conclusion that his "dream" is fading, there is yet a chance for a man to pull himself together and go ahead.

The temperament that allows a man to drift with events and affairs so long as he expects a "break," will often change with the realization that harder work and more intensive application can alone produce results. Consequently, when a man comes to this understanding of himself, he is apt to re-check his course, halt his drifting and steer more directly for the goal he has had in mind.

Anyway, whether 45 or 50, or 60, life holds much for every man. No one can calculate what can be accomplished in a few years and the records of the past contain many examples of men and women who have made "much personal advancement" after passing the age limit set by the eminent psychologist.

For these reasons, our advice to men of the ages mentioned is to hold up their chins, strike straight and hard and move ahead. They'll get somewhere if their principles are correct.

Life on Farms Has Improved by Modern Conveniences

Now that the conveniences and advantages of city life can be enjoyed by those who live in rural areas, we cannot help but wonder why the trend is from the farm into the cities.

The automobile and good roads have placed a resident ten miles from "town," closer to Main Street than the outlying citizens of that same town were fifteen years ago, in point of time. Daily deliveries bring mail, and, if conditions warrant, it won't be long before two deliveries daily will bring the rural dweller even with the city lodger.

The telephone, the radio, the individual ice manufacturer, the nearly complete electrification of our country—all these things make available comforts on the farm along any improved highway.

One of the greatest disadvantages of rural life in years past has been its comparative isolation, where the farmer's family lived apart, without near neighbors or desirable companionship. Already, however, the difference between "town" and "country" has disappeared. The farmer's children attend school in town, form a part of the younger social set and the family often rides five or ten miles to church and Sunday school.

Life on the farm is rapidly changing for the better. Such change means a revived agriculture, which will tend to hold rather than lose its young folk in the years to come. There will be a disappearance of all "dark corners" and life in town and country will approach a common level.

Oil Is Vital in Time of War

On one occasion, during the recent war, there was not enough fuel oil in the New York area to fill the bunkers of the battleship Missouri, according to a statement recently made by Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, at San Francisco.

Deploing the lack of oil storage facilities around the world, the chief architect of our victory over Japan said this might explain "our interest in Middle East oil." Moreover, he pointed out that we are using oil today at a faster rate than we did during the war and that if a conflict should begin, he doesn't believe there is enough oil in the Western Hemisphere to meet our needs.

The Admiral revealed that only one storage in the world meets the needs of the Navy. This is the underground storage on the island of Oahu, which has a capacity of six million barrels of fuel oil.

Throwing Mud Is Sorry Spectacle

The human race contains individuals entirely worthless except for a nuisance value. They attract slight attention by throwing mud at better men. This pleases their ego. All they want is a little attention.

The trait is seen in small boys who write naughty sayings upon sidewalks, barn doors and other places to compel attention and to have the fun of seeing cleaner-minded individuals remove their trash.

The interesting little nuisance seldom grows up, revealing his nature all through the years. As intriguing studies of the so-called human race, they amuse those who understand what is behind their behavior.

The average argument is three-fourths heat and one-fourth prejudice.

Theories are good things if they work.

We seldom bite on "below cost" bargains.

Get All Facts Before Jumping At Conclusions of Commentators

Here is some good advice to The Canyon News readers who have developed a tendency to believe everything they see in print or hear on the air. It comes from Maj. Gen. E. P. King, a retired army officer who gives frank opinions that are as refreshing in this age of soft-soap and pussyfooting.

Gen. King, who spent three years in Japanese prison camps, urges Americans to disregard "the lies and statistics foisted on us by commentators and so-called experts." He wants us to "study factual records on the basis of their merit." He further suggests that writers and radio reporters tend to "dramatize and emot" on news items but he sagely observes that "a man telling the truth doesn't have to do that."

There is much need for this type of advice to Americans. We have developed the habit of permitting others to tell us what they want us to know and we have neglected the ancient art of trying to get down to the facts and the record. If a newspaper article or a radio broadcast resorts to denunciation, rather than information, we are inclined to swallow the prejudices and conclusions poked at us, without making an intelligent effort to analyze the words or inquire as to the accuracy and reasonableness of the assertions.

Press Can Preserve Freedom by Adhering to Sound Principles

In the editorial columns, on the front pages and from the speakers' platforms, we constantly hear about the "freedom of the press."

Newspaper editors are constantly seeking ways to safeguard the "freedom of the press." There is no reason for the search to be prolonged or difficult, for this right is guaranteed under the Constitution.

"Freedom of the press" is a right which carries certain definite responsibilities with it. All that the newspapers of the nation have to do, to protect and preserve the "freedom of the press," is to see to it that they rigorously perform the duties that the public has a right to expect of a free press.

As long as the people of this country believe that the press is, in fact, free, there is no danger whatever of the newspapers' losing their "freedom." If the public becomes convinced that the newspapers of this country are distorting the news, misrepresenting officials, or otherwise using their journals for selfish purposes, there will be no need of clamoring about a free press.

The general public, disgusted with a sycophant press, will applaud any step taken to curb unbridled license. A decent code of ethics, a sense of responsibility and the evidence of a desire to serve the public will go far towards preserving the "freedom of the press."

Building Canyon Is the Problem of Both Buyers and Sellers

The Canyon News urges all the citizens of Canyon to adopt an intelligent plan of community cooperation. This does not involve the careless boosting that ignores facts of the degenerating pessimism that depreciates everything. It merely requires that the citizens of Canyon realize that the combined efforts of all neighbors and friends will definitely improve our town.

One of the necessities for such improvement is a sound business structure upon which to rest other ornaments. The trade-at-home policy, as often advocated by this newspaper, is a cardinal principle of community loyalty. It applies to sellers as well as to buyers and involves the use of money for improving Canyon as well as spending it within municipal limits.

In addition, our citizens should compare Canyon with other communities and, if possible, see that we acquire as many advantages as others. Moreover, an eye should be kept on our living conditions and social organizations in the hope of securing a fuller life for those who make their homes in our midst.

Three Navies Operate Together

Almost unnoticed in the news of the day, a tri-national fleet has completed maneuvers recently in the Atlantic Ocean.

The ships of the Dutch, French and British navies, under the command of the Dutch Vice-Admiral W. L. Willinge, ended their three-day cruise as a homogeneous Atlantic Treaty task force. The ships practiced constantly on the varied maneuvers necessary in sea warfare and worked out some of the problems involved in the cooperation of multi-national and multi-lingual fleets.

While the cooperative effort included only the ships of three countries in Europe, one should not overlook the significance of this beginning. Eventually, it may be possible for the navies, as well as the other armed forces, of all free countries to work together in the cause of maintaining peace and securing their common liberty.

Cost of Relief Is Growing

The Welfare Commissioner of the City of New York reports that public assistance in April was provided to 351,961 persons, roughly figuring about one out of twenty-one people, or about five per cent of the city's population by the 1940 census.

This relief job cost $13,291,343, or about $37.76 a person. The continued rise in public assistance rolls is attributed to chronic unemployment problems, with the warning that the expenditure will increase unless jobs can be found for those on the relief rolls.

The payment of unemployment compensation and the use of public money for the relief of individuals have increased by leaps and bounds in the last generation. Such expenditures explain, in part, why the cost of government has increased in the United States.

Atomic Attacks Being Studied

News that mock atomic attacks will be used to map emergency civil defense programs for American cities seems to establish the possibility of such attacks in the event of another war.

Civilian defense officials point out that the practice program, planned in Washington, Chicago and Seattle, does not mean that an emergency is any nearer than it was before. All that the officials are trying to do is to get ideas for the development of an emergency plan, which, in time, will be replaced by a more permanent program.

"I'D LIKE TO PAY A THIRD THIS MONTH"

Ever stop to think what life would be like if we still used the barter system?

For one thing, this means of trading would make installment plan buying impractical.

Money acts as a standard of deferred payments, makes it possible to know how much is owing.

Use credit wisely—and when you borrow, borrow the low cost bank way.

Irlbeck-Koch Vows Spoken In Impressive Double Ring Ceremony

In a double ring ceremony, June 14, at 8:00 o'clock a. m., in St. Mary's Church, Miss Alice Mary Irlbeck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Irlbeck became the bride of Max Henry Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koch, all of St. Mary's Parish.

The Rev. Andrew Marthaler, pastor, officiated at the marriage just prior to a nuptial High Mass. The Mass servers were Joe and Willie Artho and Joe and Roman Friemel.

Bouquets of white gladioli in gold vases decorated the High Altar and bouquets of seven sister roses and baby breath were on the side altars. The couple knelt on a velvet covered pre-dieu during Mass. The family pews were marked with white carnations tied with streamers in the colors of the attendants' gowns.

St. Mary's choir sang the Mass with "Adoro-Te" as the offertory and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" was sung at the Communion.

Anthony Irlbeck, cousin of the bride was best man and Miss Anna Koch, sister of the groom was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of green marquisette over taffeta. The yoke was edged with a lace trimmed bertha caught in front with pink rosettes. The full skirt was flounced and was worn over a hoop. Her matching headress was a half hat of horsehair braid and rosebuds. She wore a Sacred Heart lavalier and carried a bouquet of pink daisies tied with pink streamers.

Miss Evelyn Irlbeck, sister of the bride and Miss Catherine Koch, sister of the groom were junior bridesmaids and wore identical gowns. Miss Irlbeck in blue and Miss Koch in salmon pink. The fitted bodices of all over lace had a marquisette yoke and the short, puffed sleeves were lace with marquisette ruffles. The full marquisette skirts over taffeta were trimmed at the waist with a double ruffle. They wore two strand pearl necklaces and their headresses and bouquets were identical to the bridesmaids.

Miss Marie Koch, sister of the groom was flower girl. She wore white marquisette styled with a basque waist, coming to a point in front, short puffed sleeves and a full gathered skirt over a taffeta hoop skirt. A ruffle around the front of the skirt terminated in a bustle effect in the back. Her headress was like the other attendants and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Larry Wieck, cousin of the bride was ring bearer. He wore a white suit, black bow tie and carried the rings on a white satin pillow, trimmed with lace and blue ribbons. The pillow was made by Mrs. Irlbeck, mother of the bride.

The bride was attired in a gown of white slipper satin, designed with a quilted design. The fitted bodice came to a point in front and buttoned to the waist in the back with tiny satin covered buttons. The sleeves came to a point over her hands and the full skirt ended in a chapel train. Her two tiered veil of bridal illusion edged with lace was attached to a tiara of flowers, which were outlined with rhinestones and studded with seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a three strand pearl necklace, a gift from her grandmother, the late Mrs. Josephine Skypala. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, the bride's aunt, Mrs. Clem Friemel, served breakfast to Father Marthaler and the bride party in the Friemel home. The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with bouquet of seven sister roses and baby breath, flanked by white tapers in crystal holders.

At noon, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. In the afternoon, also in the Irlbeck home, a reception was held. The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth. The three tiered wedding cake, which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Koch, mother of the groom, and Mrs. Vincent Friemel, was flanked by white candles in branched holders. A miniature bride and groom, standing under an arched bell topped the cake and rosebuds and doves completed the decorations.

Miss Rose Marie Ackfeldt, Amarillo, cousin of the bride served the cake after the bride cut the first piece.

A wedding dance was given in the Parish Hall in the evening.

After a trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home on their farm near Umbarger.

Mrs. Koch is a graduate of Umbarger high school and was Randall County 4-H gold star girl in her senior year. Mr. Koch attend Umbarger schools and is now engaged in farming.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Irlbeck chose a pink dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Koch chose a blue dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Henry Skypala, uncle of the bride and Raymond Batenhorst, uncle of the groom were ushers. All men in the wedding party wore white carnation boutonnieres.

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Henry Bracht, Mrs. Bill Bauer, Mrs. John Brandt, Mrs. John Bedenk and Mrs. Ben Buecker and Misses Helen Ackfeldt, Theresa and Margaret Irlbeck, cousins of the bride and Theresa Ann Beckman, Elsie Artho, Sadie Higgins, and Georgann Bedenk.

Out of town relatives and friends attending were Mrs. Elizabeth Schule, grandmother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones and daughter from Council Bluffs, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Moore and family, Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lewis and family of Pampa, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Williams and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Cantrell of Canyon.

were opened dancing and refreshments of doughnuts and coffee were enjoyed.

Congressman Guill Predicts Support For Grain Sorghum

Congressman Ben Guill writes the following brief message to Panhandle farmers:

It looks as if a support price on the Grain Sorghum Crop will be announced within the next week.

The Commodity Credit Appropriation Bill is still in committee but it is expected that it will be passed out favorably this week and will be approved by both the House and the Senate within a few days thereafter. It is also expected that the President will sign the bill and make it law.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan must wait for the Bill to be signed before he announces support prices. (Unless the Bill is signed there won't be any funds to supply the supports). I have spoken with members of the House and Senate Agricultural Committees and they predict that the supports will be satisfactory to Panhandle farmers.

Capt. H. Prichard On B-36 Training Tour in Pacific

Capt. H. Prichard, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Prichard, is one of the ten plane commanders taking off in their B36s with warlike precision at 15-minute intervals from Carswell Air Base Monday to stage and refuel at Fairfield-Suisun, Calif. on the first leg of a training tour in the Pacific.

The ten B36s are undergoing final tuneup before leaving Thursday from Fairfield for Hawaii, and probably on to Kwagalein, near the Eniwetok atomic proving grounds in the Marshall Islands.

The sky giants will be making the first trans-Pacific mission of B36s under simulated battle conditions.

Official Air Force sources have labeled the flight "a regular training mission" but the fact remained that no such ambitious overseas mission by B36s has been undertaken previously.

Brig. Gen. C. S. Irvine, 7th Bombardment Wing and Carswell Air Base commander, personally is leading the flight which left Ft. Worth Monday morning and landed in California Monday evening.

Takeoff time for the first plane to leave Fairfield-Suisun on the 2,100 mile flight to Hickman Air Base, Hawaii, still has not been disclosed. The trans-Pacific hop is expected to require 10 hours.

Mrs. Prichard and children are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Harter, and with Capt. Prichard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Prichard, Sr., while Capt. Prichard is away.

Savings Bonds Sales Lagging In Randall Co.

The sale of savings bonds has been slow in Randall county, according to a report from the Treasury Department.

According to the report of June 2, the county is credited with the sale of $10,518.75, or 13.49% of the quota of $78,000 which was assigned to Randall county.

However, let it be remembered that the quota is entirely out of line with the population and resources of the county. The fine record of war years was taken into consideration in setting the quota.

Deaf Smith county has a quota of only $43,000; Carson, only $31,000; Childress, $45,000; Collinsworth, $23,000; Dallam, $33,000; Floyd, $43,000; Hall, $54,000.

If Randall meets the quota the people will set a fine example for their neighbors.

Plateau Singing Group to Hold Regional Meet

The Plateau Singing Convention will hold its 28th annual convention in Amarillo, July 15 and 16, according to John P. Taylor, of Canyon, president of the convention for 29 years.

At the invitation of Bill Sansing, director of public relations for the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, this year's meeting will be held in the Amarillo Municipal Auditorium, beginning at 11 o'clock on the morning of July 15 and closing the next day at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Taylor says he is expecting between three and six thousand singers to attend the convention, a non-commercial affair. The program will include more than 200 numbers, some consisting of quartets, duets, and choruses. Several music companies will attend to sign newly written songs for publication. Taylor will open the songfest by directing 1950 versions of convention songs.

The public is invited to attend the convention, which will be divided into five sessions. Song books are being prepared for the audience.

The Plateau Singing Convention is composed of counties of Texas, Eastern New Mexico, and Western Oklahoma. Its first convention was held at Clovis, New Mexico, following organization by Taylor, C. H. Rogers, and Silas G. Bridges. The name, "Plateau" was selected to designate the geographic territory in which counties belonging to the organization were located.

Individual county singing conventions are held several times during the year, and the general convention meets annually.

Commodity Credit Was Discussed at Rotary Luncheon

Carl Hinton of Dallas, field director of Commodity Credit Corporation, spoke Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon on the operation of his organization. He was presented by Walter Upchurch, who was in charge of the program.

The speaker paid high tribute to Mr. Upchurch and the work that he is performing for Randall county. Hinton was manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce several years ago, coming from Denver. He will be recalled as the first man who ever proclaimed that Amarillo could never grow unless every community in the Panhandle was growing and prospering.

CCC was founded during the depression days of 1930-33. Spokesmen of big business, little business, capital and labor sat down in Washington to discuss what could be done to stop the depression. They reached the opinion, after studying the history of depressions, that these follow a collapse of farm economy. Stabilizing farm economy will avoid depressions, was the verdict of the group.

CCC was endorsed both by the Republicans and Democrats. It was not until 1938 that it was transferred to the Department of Agriculture. It bought and sold farm commodities, but never outside of regular trade channels.

In 1948, the Republican Congress, CCC was given a permanent charter, with a $100,000,000 capital and with additional 4½ billion borrowing authority. Later this authority was increased by two billion borrowing power. Stability has been the only aim of the organization.

The Rumel plan, of which so much has been written, stated that stability was impossible without agricultural stability. Marvin Jones, while a member of Congress, wrote most of the farm legislation in existence. When PMA was established, 14 government agencies were united. This deals with Production and Marketing, and sets up an organization in every courthouse in the nation. R. B. Gist is chairman of the Randall county farm group, and Mr. Upchurch is employed as manager. Farmers run the organization.

In 1949 the wheat and grain crops of Randall county totalled 10 millions of dollars. All of this was under direct control of PMA.

Business is kept good through local banks loaning their own money to farmers on loans which are guaranteed by the government.

While Mr. Hinton does not agree with all of the policies which have been adopted by CCC, this is the only agency which will defeat another depression, stated the speaker.

Visitors were: A. B. Haynes, Jr., J. Evetts Haley, Emmett Smith, R. B. Gist, all of Canyon; Fred Jones of Lubbock; Henry Rockwell of Houston; John Patton of Hereford; Archie Roberts and H. W. Amick of Panhandle; Tom Cartwright, Tom Cartright, Jr., Hubert Dowell, Guy Carlander, Roy Boger, E. Kancher, Forrest Barnes, J. O. McGuire, all of Amarillo.

Fulton Designer At Florists State Convention

H. R. Fulton, Jr., florist will go to Houston July 11, 12 and 13, to the State Convention of the Texas State Florists Association.

He has been asked to work on the designs booth there as one of the three top Texas design artists, with three national designers, because of the outstanding designs he exhibited in Amarillo and in the regular design school at Dallas last year.

Mrs. Fulton will accompany him to Houston for the convention.

Mr. Fulton has been in the florist business in Canyon for the past three years, and during that time has enlarged his shop twice its original capacity. The space in the rear of the shop, formerly used for a studio in which Mr. and Mrs. Fulton gave accordion, piano and voice lessons, has recently been turned into a work room for making corsages, floral designs and orders. At the present they have their musical studio in their home.

Ben Guill Reports To The People on Tidelands Bill

If the decision of the Supreme Court on the Texas Tidelands case made the people back home half as angry as it did the Congressmen up here in Washington, then the air must have been blue last Monday all the way from Perryton to Childress and from Farwell to Follett.

The decision stole a billion dollars out of the pockets of our Texas school children. It also broke the solemn word of the United States government, given in 1845 when Texas voluntarily joined the United States.

There is a bill which would overrule the decision of the Supreme Court being considered in the House Judiciary Committee this week. It will undoubtedly be reported out favorably and the House will undoubtedly pass it if it comes to the floor. Unfortunately, it looks as if there will not be time for the Senate to pass it and, even if it did, the President would certainly veto the bill.

The tidelands area embraces 2,608,774 acres of shallow, submerged lands which have been legally within the boundaries of Texas since the first session of the Congress of the Republic of Texas in 1836. The tidelands were specifically given to Texas for all time in the Joint Resolution annexing Texas to the United States in 1845.

In 1933 Harold Ickes, then the Secretary of the Interior, stated that tidelands generally could not be appropriated except by authority of the sovereign states. But, three years later, "The Old Curmudgeon" began to have his doubts, and with those doubts the fight for Federal appropriation began.

But even the bureaucracies of 1938 believed that specific permission from Congress would have to be obtained if the tidelands were to be appropriated. They asked the 75th and the 76th Congresses for that permission and were turned down cold. After this, Mr. Ickes again reversed himself, and on April 19, 1943 he told the Truman Committee he disapproved of litigation in regard to submerged lands. In June, 1944 he reversed himself for the third time and tried to move in on the tideland States. At this point the States went to Congress and sought relief. The House passed a resolution on September 20, 1945 favoring the tidelands. States by a vote of 108 to 11. The Senate passed a similar resolution on July 22, 1946 by a 44-34 vote. So President Truman vetoed the Bill, on August 1, 1946. The House failed to override the veto by a mere 17 votes, 139 to 95.

The bureaucrats, suddenly deciding that they didn't need Congressional approval to steal the tidelands after all, especially since that approval wasn't forthcoming, sued the State of California for possession of its underwater lands. The Supreme Court decided against the State of California in June, 1947.

The matter was brought up before the 80th Congress again and this time, on April 30, 1948 the Tidelands bill passed by the overwhelming majority of 257 to 29. (Remember, this was the so-called "worst" Republican Congress.) Administration pressure prevented the tidelands bill from getting out of committee in the Senate. The bill died.

But, all this was in regard to the tidelands in general and had little to do with Texas. Texas had been given permanent ownership of her tidelands through a solemn agreement with the United States government, as a condition under which she joined the Union. The United States Attorney General's office chose to consider the solemn word of the United States as unimportant, and sued Texas anyway. The Supreme Court, on Black Monday, June 5, 1950 also decided that the solemn word of the United States government isn't worth the paper it's written on.

The decision simply "legalizes" theft. It also leaves all of us Texans with the problems of raising a billion dollars in tax money over the years to support our public schools. That money would have been forthcoming from the revenue from oil-reproducing wells in the tidelands area.

But there are other implications. The decision gives the Federal Government the green light to move in on everything it wants within the sovereign states. Mr. Philip B. Perlman, the United States Solicitor General who is so fond of quoting Communists and fellow-travellers as authorities in his briefs, was asked recently if the tidelands decision would affect the Great Lakes. "I don't know," he said. "Let's find out if there's anything in the Great Lakes the government wants."

If the Federal Government, in its greedy quest for control of every natural resource in the country, can claim that the McClellan Creek (which is four inches deep in some places) and any other stream in which you can float a log is "navigable" it can also declare that the Canadian River or even our Panhandle field tanks are technically "tidelands" and thus subject to Federal ownership and control.

Texas had the law, tradition, the word of the Government and the Congress on its side in the tidelands controversy. The Administration merely had greed. Greed won.

FACTORY WAGES

In mid-April, the average pay of 11,600,000 factory production workers had risen to $56.89 a week, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. This was the fifth consecutive month of rise and put the total more than $3 higher than a year ago.

Cecil Storey Is Candidate Office Criminal Appeals

Cecil Storey, State Representative from Longview, is a candidate for Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Storey was formerly State Representative from Vernon.

The Newsman served with Storey in the House. He was a sound lawyer at that time, and one of the ablest in the House.

He has been working on criminal law reforms and will have recommendations to make to the next session of the legislature which he says will save the state much money. The taxpayers of Texas are today spending $500,000,000 annually for law enforcement through the cities, counties and the state governments, states Storey.

"VOICE OF AMERICA"

The "jamming" of Voice of America programs by the Soviet Union has confirmed the belief that the broadcasts are reaching a large percentage of the Russian population and are having a disturbing impact on the Kremlin, according to Mucio Delgado, special assistant to the chief of the International Broadcasting Division of the State Department.

Emery-Parsons Wedding Service Read in Kansas

At a lovely double ring ceremony at the First Christian church in Wellington, Kansas, at 2:00 o'clock the afternoon of Sunday, May 28, Miss Hazel Marline Emery became the bride of Edgar Dana Parsons. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron L. Emery of Wellington. Mr. Parsons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Parsons.

The Rev. James L. Christensen of the First Christian Church performed a most impressive ceremony before a background of white gladioli and twin candelabras.

Mrs. Louella Hensley of Wichita, Kansas, at the organ, wearing a soft rose suit with dark accessories and a corsage of white carnations, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Ruth McConnell, vocalist, attired in a lovely white formal with pink carnations, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning" and as the bride and groom knelt in prayer sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a charmingly lace gown over slipper white satin. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice with miniature buttons down the back of the bodice. It featured a jeweled neck line and long tight sleeves. The full skirt ending in a long train and the finger tip veil of imported illusion net completed the costume. The only ornament worn by the bride was a strand of seed pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of baby red rose buds surrounding a white orchid.

Mrs. Harold C. Hunt, of Kansas City, Mo., attended her sister as matron-of-honor. Her dress was lime green organza with a bouffant skirt and fashioned with a fitted bodice and deep net poke with matching accessories of lace mitts and bonnet. She carried a fan bouquet of rose buds.

Mrs. Darlene Parley, bridesmaid, wore turquoise blue taffeta gown styled as that of the matron-of-honor and carried a fan bouquet of rose buds.

The taper lighters were Mrs. Martha McCurry and Miss Lila Perry. They were gowned in pastel colored gowns and wore wrist corsages of rose buds.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Emery, chose a hand dipped two tone beige and brown chiffon dress with beige accessories and corsage of tallman roses for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Parsons, mother of the groom, wore a rose crepe gown with navy accessories and a shoulder corsage of tea roses.

The best man was Blake Zachary of Canyon. Ushers were Harold C. Hunt, Kansas City, Lewis McCurry, Bill Crider and Dale Washburn. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. The refreshment table was centered with a large four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Lee Harlan of Clarinda, Iowa, Mrs. Henry Bourne and Mrs. Dorothy Crider. Mrs. Billie Jean Washburn had charge of the guest book.

For her going away costume the bride chose a rose of auburn crepe ensemble with navy accessories and her corsage was a white orchid. After a wedding trip to Colorado and New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 3608 W. 7th, Amarillo.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Grady Parsons and Blake Zachary of Canyon; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harlan and daughter, Lois Ann, of Clarinda, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Kornhaus of Peabody, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Fudge of Nardin, Oklahoma; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hensley, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Meeker, all of Wichita, Kansas; Mrs. William M. Moon and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Al Flick, and Miss Georgia Reganary, all of Perth, Kansas; Mrs. Carl Lamb of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Hunt of Kansas City; Mrs. Ralph E. Mount and daughter, Wanda K., of Council Grove, Kansas.

AS YOU LIKE IT CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. PRESLEY

On Thursday afternoon the As You Like It bridge club met with Mrs. C. M. Presley for the last meeting of this year's meetings.

Summer flowers in various arrangements were used to decorate the entertainment rooms.

At the conclusion of the series of games a dessert plate was served by the hostess to Mrs. J. S. Humphreys, Mrs. S. B. Lowder and Mrs. A. K. Knott, guests, and Mrs. N. E. McIntire, Mrs. Clyde McElroy, Mrs. A. W. Sternberg, Mrs. Catherine Kunze, Mrs. P. E. Savage, Miss Edna Graham, Mrs. Beulah Bell, Mrs. R. A. Terrill and Mrs. Ted Reid, members.

Fite-Small Vows Exchanged June 11

MR. AND MRS. MARVIN FITE

Miss Gerry Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Small, and Marvin Fite, son of Mrs. Malinda Fite, exchanged marriage vows on Sunday, June 11, in the Baptist Pastorium in Canyon. Dr. Roy L. Johnson, pastor, read the double ring ceremony. Relatives and a few intimate friends were guests.

MRS. WALTER GRAHAM IS HOSTESS TO BIBLE CLASS

Members of the Mary E. Hudspeth Class of the Baptist Church were entertained with a luncheon, Thursday, June 15th, in the home of Mrs. Walter Graham.

Various tables in the entertaining rooms were decorated with centerpieces of pastel sweet peas and the dining table was centered with an arrangement of pink gladioli and daisies, flanked by pink tapers.

The program consisted of a book review, given by Miss Elva Fronabarger, of "Crosswinds" by Martha Cheavins, Bette Jean Graham singing, "Thanks Be To God," and a devotional, given by Mrs. Tom Brasher.

Those present for the luncheon were Mrs. Carl V. Wimberly, Mrs. Bill Joe Montgomery of Amarillo, Mrs. R. A. Hughes, Mrs. W. J. Clay of Phoenix, Arizona, Mrs. Warren G. Newton Harrell Writes Interesting Hunting Trip to Alaska Made by Mr. Harrell and His Son, Ed Harrell

Newton Harrell and son, Ed, with Bill McCarty (Mrs. W. A. Warren's brother) are hunting big 1600 pound Kodiak bear in Southern Alaska, on the Alaska Peninsula. Their guides, Slim Moore and Warren Tillman, are the same ones with whom the Harrells hunted last year up near the Arctic Circle. The following is the first letter Mrs. Harrell has received from her husband and son: Alaska Peninsula, Out in the Bush, on the Shore of Lake Ugashik, June 8. We are waiting for the plane to move us but the weather is so bad we do not expect it. Just what we are in for except a wait is doubtful. We arrived on the first. There were three hunters in two camps 25 miles apart. Blankenship, (M. D. of Dalhart), was here and killed two bear the day before. He had seen 4 or 5 and had shot at most of them. They were chased away. The other hunters had not seen a bear. It looked bad and the most difficult walking you ever saw. We had to go miles before there was any need to hunt. I hunted three days and saw one bear. He was about 2 miles away and going the other way. He was also on the very top of a mountain. One would have had to cross a mile of snow to reach him and he was moving; so, of course, we only saw him. I had to rest a day and on that day the others went in to bring out Blankenship's bear hide. On the way back they saw a small bear about the size of the one you killed last year. McCarty got him at about 400 yards running. Slim said it was excellent shooting.

The next day Slim, Ed and I went down the lake. We left late, at 9:00 a. m. At 10:50 we reached the top of a hill and just then a bear was coming over another hill about 1/2 mile away. We sat to watch him as he came straight for us. That was really nerve wracking. Slim figured his course and as he went behind a slope, we moved a short way. We were on a point in plain view, but that bear never seemed to see us. When he was about 100 yards away, I could wait no longer to shoot at him. I shot. He went down. We thought he was dead, but since we could see McCarty and knew he had his camera we moved to wait for him. After about 15 minutes the bear began to move and to get up. Ed shot him. Over he rolled and again we thought he was dead. We continued to wait for McCarty to get to us. After a little while the bear moved and rolled down the hill into some bushes. We watched the bear and still waited for McCarty. All at once I saw the bear up and running away down the hill. It took 3 shots to bring him down this time. Mc was close enough by this time to get his pictures. The bear was still slashing and biting. Slim went up close to him to try to get him to charge. We took several pictures and Ed had to shoot twice more to lay the bear out.

You cannot imagine the power and fury of the Kodiak. It took us all to get this one rolled over and took us 1 1/2 hours to skin him. Tillie, Mc, Slim, Ed and I all were there and we could not move him, except to roll him over. The skin was a little one, 9 feet long and from claw to claw in front over 11 feet. He looked about like a jersey bull after we had skinned him. The skin weighed over 100 pounds, but we had to carry it only about one-third of a mile to the lake where we put it into a rubber boat.

Yesterday we took a short trip but found no bear. We looked across the lake onto the snow and saw two bear playing. It was about 6 miles. We were wishing the plane would come so we could get in some more hunting. Mc wants a big bear and Ed wants to shoot some too.

We see many moose, and ptarmigan are everywhere. An otter came by this morning. We watched a red fox play around yesterday. We certainly have not seen any people. It rained while we were skinning the bear, but we didn't notice it. The wind is blowing and clouds are low. I hope we get moved soon as there is so little hunting here. I don't expect to do much more walking. The tundra is worse than on the Charlie River and the mountains straight up into the snow. I have never seen such hard hunting. Al Lysher, another guide, is with us and he hunts some. We have all rested some except Ed. He is always ready and has been in on everything.

These bear are the original skiers. They walk us to a steep snow hill then slide down. One can see slides all along. I saw one about 500 feet long. It was almost straight up. I imagine he had a gay ride. We saw a bear take a short slide yesterday. He was so far away we could not see him without using field glasses. We can't get to where they are until the plane comes in.

These old big bear do not live close together. There are many bear, but the mountains are so big and so hard to look over. Then about 5 miles brings one to another mountain and maybe a bear.

Blankenship walked up and shot a big one asleep. He was almost the size of mine. The female came up and Blankenship had to shoot her. Slim tried to run her off, but she kept coming. It was a long walk, but it was their last day to hunt and they had to do it. By the time they got both skinned and back to camp it was 4 a. m. the next morning. It is not very dark at anytime. The sun goes down about 9:30 and is up at about 3:00 a. m.

We have not taken any pictures yet. There just doesn't seem to be any time. Mc got some pictures of our bear and can probably have some reproductions made.

Capt. Ban's friend came down and hunted one day with Blankenship. They saw two bear and were trying to slip up on them around the mountain. The bear were faster and came up behind the men. They heard the bear snort and they were only 50 feet away. The soldier made time around the mountain. By the time M. D. got him stopped the bear had got away.

June 9, 5:00 p. m. The plane just came in but doesn't have gas to move us now; probably tomorrow.

He did bring some groceries. It rained all day yesterday and some today.

Slim Moore, Mr. Harrell's guide, was old Tack's guide on a hunt in Alaska several years ago. Slim is one of the best guides in Alaska. He is quite a character and has a lingo all his own. He never says things in the usual way, but colors them with rich sayings. On this trip with him the group has collected some of his unusual lines. A few examples are: In describing a bear in a bear hunt tale: "He was ancient—all scarred up and looked like he had been second best from the scars on his rear he received in going away parties;" from a story about spotting bears from a plane, "We parted his hair with a pontoon and he took off;" "A bear nearly scratches his ears with his hind feet when he really gets in a hurry;" in discussing fires in the camp stoves, "When you are awake the stove does not burn but when you go to sleep it takes off like a shot cat," "When the wood piled up by the stove catches on fire, put it in the stove quick so it will go out."

Mr. Harrell's Moose Hunt in 1949 after Mrs. Harrell and Ed had returned to the States, written by Mrs. Harrell.

Since the group didn't find moose on the Charles River, Newton stayed over a few days to get one. Those that he was looking for were up in the high country in the low willows. Their horns were still showing signs of redness where they had scraped off the velvet.

Slim Moore, one of the best guides in Alaska, and Tillman, our regular guide, and an excellent one, went with Newton up into the mountains. They drove a pickup with provisions to one of Slim's cabins. Then they hiked 25 miles over rough terrain, mountains, swamps, tundra-crossing a mountain stream 50 times up to their knees in water. Newton had both heels blistered and infected from so much walking over rough ground and wading water.

Finally through binoculars, they spotted their moose a mile away. He was feeding in low willows. At that distance Slim guessed his horn spread at 48 inches (they actually measured 49 inches). The big fellow scraped his horns on some bushes and lay down in a low place. Tillie stayed behind and watched through the binoculars while Slim and Newton went around to come in behind the moose against the wind. He was about 60 yards away when they saw him shake his horns in getting up. This gave Newton a chance to get ready as a moose always turns to look before running away. When he looked Newton full in the face with that big spread, Newton shot him through the neck and shoulders. It took two more shots to kill him.

Newton and the guides had hired a bush pilot with a pontoon plane to fly the meat out. After they skinned and quartered the moose, cutting most of the meat off the ribs, they walked back to camp to get the plane. The pilot wasn't certain that he could take off on such a small lake, so he landed on another lake a mile away. But after floating across the lake in a rubber boat he decided it was possible. After making six trips, the pilot had the meat and the men safely in camp.

Newton brought home ten pounds of the meat, leaving the remainder with our guide for his winter supply.

We had the head and horns mounted. One may see them hanging in the First National Bank of Canyon. Now that I look back I can't remember having heard a word spoken about anything but hunting, morning, noon and night—the habits of

Twilight Enhances Candlelight Davis-Walsh Rites

MRS. ANDREW LEE WALSH, JR.

Altar baskets of white gladioli flanked by tall white candelabra bearing lighted white tapers, formed the decorative setting for the marriage of Miss Anita Lucille Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe B. Davis of Canyon, to Andrew Lee Walsh, Jr., son of Mayor and Mrs. A. L. Walsh, Sr., of Canyon, on Wednesday evening, June 14, at 7:30 o'clock, in the First Presbyterian Church in Canyon. Completing the altar arrangements was the white satin cloth covering the chancel rail, and draped with garlands of woodwardia fern.

Rev. Arthur Bailey Duncan, III of Dallas, and former classmate of both the bride and bridegroom, read the double-ring candlelight service.

While the guests assembled, Mrs. J. D. Barker, organist, played "Sweethearts" by Herbert, "Always" by Berlin, "Liebestraum" by List, and Bond's "I Love You Truly." Immediately preceding the ceremony, Mrs. H. R. Fulton, Jr., sang "Because" by d'Hardelot and "I Love Thee" by Grieg. She was accompanied by Mrs. Barker. The playing of "Claire de Lune" by Debussy formed a soft musical background during the exchange of vows, and as a benediction, Mrs. Fulton sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

Candlelighters were Miss Jeanette Johnson of Los Angeles, Calif., who was attired in a white dotted swiss gown, and Miss Joan Jackson of Indianapolis, Indiana, attired in white eyelet.

The bridesmaids wore identical gowns of white dotted swiss with matching gloves and each wore a tiara of solid white carnations in her hair and carried an artistic fan covered with white stock, mistletoe and white satin ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Miss June Carolyn Davis of Canyon, Miss Avis Campfield of Hot Springs, N. M., Mrs. William Howse of Wichita, Kansas, and Miss Patricia Smith of Portales, N. M.

Attending the bride as maid-of-honor, Miss Sue Ann Colwell wore a gown of white organdy styled identical to the bridesmaids' gowns, a tiara of white carnations and an identical fan covered with stock, mistletoe and white satin ribbons.

Best man was W. O. Long of Canyon, and groomsmen were Bill Davis of Canyon, brother of the bride, Marion Whitfield of Plainview, Stewart Scott of Amarillo, and Louis Henders of Canyon.

Preceding the bride was the small flower girl, little Miss Patty Patton of Floydada who was gowned in white dotted swiss and carried a white satin basket bearing feathered flowers.

Entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was attired in a diamond white satin bridal gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of hand-run Chantilly lace, high neckline, tiny covered buttons down the back and long fitted sleeves which came to a point over the wrists. A lace panel continued down the front of the gathered skirt which extended into a full cathedral train. The three-quarter length triple tier veil of imported French illusion was finished with scallops and attached to a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid, stephanotis and white satin streamers. Inside her Bible was the blue chiffon handkerchief her mother carried at her wedding.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Davis wore a gown of sky blue crepe, with navy blue accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Walsh, mother of the bridegroom chose a gown of rose crepe with matching rose accessories and her corsage was also an orchid.

Following the ceremony, a wedding reception was held in Fellowship Hall. The bride's table was covered with a white Irish linen cloth and centered with the bride's bouquet. The three-tier wedding cake was served by Mrs. Clyde Davis of Canyon, and Mrs. Warren Johnson of Los Angeles, Calif., aunt of the bridegroom. Pastel green punch was served by Mrs. H. W. Spear of Lakeview and Mrs. E. D. Harrell of Canyon. Mrs. Paul D. Jackson of Indianapolis, Indiana, registered the guests. Floating hostesses were Mrs. Joe Black, Mrs.

Hud Prichard and Mrs. Tom Brasher.

For traveling the bride wore a yellow Palm Beach suit with purple accessories and a white orchid corsage.

After June 18, the couple will be at home for six weeks in San Antonio where the bridegroom will do ROTC duty at Brooks General Hospital. They will then return to Houston where he is a senior medical student at Baylor University College of Medicine.

Mrs. Walsh graduated from Canyon High School in 1943 and received her B. S. degree from Indiana University in 1947. For the past two years she has taught high school vocal music in Portales, New Mexico. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Junior Women's Club, and the American Association of University Women.

Mr. Walsh also graduated from Canyon High School in 1943 and received his B. S. degree from West Texas State College in 1947 after spending two years in the United States Navy. He was a member of Alpha Sigma Xi fraternity at West Texas State, and is a member of Phi Beta Pi medical fraternity at the Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston.

Out-of-town guests included: Mrs. Paul D. Jackson, Miss Joan Jackson, Mrs. Jennie Davis, all of Indianapolis, Indiana, Mrs. Warren G. Johnson, Miss Jeanette Johnson and Miss Joan Pratt, all of Los Angeles, California; Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Spear of Lakeview; Mr. and Mrs. Vern Patton, Reg. Patty and Janie of Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. George Patton and Jerry, Miss Edith Childre, Miss Agnes Childre, Mrs. Ruth Mayhew, Mr. and Mrs. Blake Hankins, Mr. and Mrs. E. Chas. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Art McKay and Stewart Scott, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Royce Pember, Mrs. Gordon Hatch and James, Miss Kay Williamson, Miss Phyllis Williamson, Miss Jim Eloyce Ribble, Miss Lila Hunt, Miss Celia Pember, Miss Robbie Hatch, and Miss Patricia Smith, all of Portales; Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Bailey Duncan, III, of Dallas; Mrs. W. E. Howse of Wichita, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Woodall of Tulsa; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woods of Happy.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Walsh, Sr., parents of the bridegroom, entertained on Tuesday evening, June 13, with the rehearsal dinner for the wedding party. Scene of the dinner was the spacious backyard of the Walsh home, and barbecue from the outdoor fireplace was served to the guests.

Those present were Rev. Arthur Bailey Duncan, III, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Duncan, Miss Johnny Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Henders, Mrs. W. E. Howse of Wichita, Kansas, Mrs. E. D. Harrell, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Davis and June Carolyn, Mrs. Warren Johnson and Jeanette and Joan Pratt, all of Los Angeles, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Davis and Bill. Marion Whitfield of Plainview, Stewart Scott of Amarillo, Miss Avis Campfield of Hot Springs, New Mexico, Miss Patricia Smith of Portales, New Mexico, Miss Sue Ann Colwell, and the honored couple, Miss Anita Davis and Andy Walsh.

One trouble with a democracy is that too many citizens suffer from mental paralysis.

A bargain should include quality at reduced prices; inferior goods are never cheap.

Half Truths Are Dangerous When Applied to Nation

Half-truths, if accepted by the people generally, can be very dangerous. For example, Senator Irving Ives, of New York, recently maintained that in a representative democracy, "we are our own government." This is a good example of a dangerous half-truth.

In a sense, the people are the government of the United States but all powers are exercised by elected officials. There is no way under the sun to prevent elected officials from usurping power and from proceeding directly against the wishes of many Americans. In fact, practically every law goes against the grain of some citizens. The only way for us to be our own government would be for each American to have a vote on the passage of each bill in Congress and a voice in the executive execution of the statutes passed. Moreover, it would be necessary for the people to be able to vote on the constitutionality of the laws that they passed. Obviously, this is impossible.

Williams took his examinations the 12, 13, and 14 of June. If he passed, he will start training on July 1. He will attend West Point for two years.

While at West Texas, Williams was a member of the freshman football team.

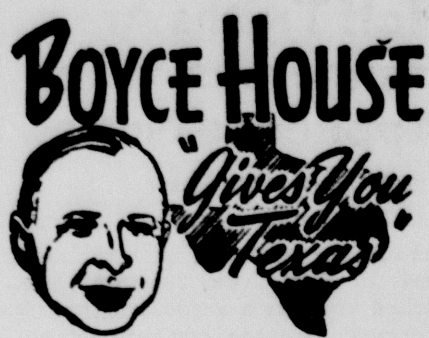

Bruce Richardson, another WT student, has been made an alternate and is going to New York soon to take his examinations. Richardson is from Dallas.

Secretary: "Yes, Mr. Culver is at liberty now."
Office Visitor: "O, I didn't even know he'd been in jail."

Henry W. Grady edited a paper in Atlanta--and it went broke. He started a second, and it suspended; a third, and it likewise "folded." But he became editor of a fourth paper, the Constitution; made it the most influential journal in the South and, through his editorials and brilliant speeches, he was recognized as one of the greatest men America has produced.

There was a young fellow who couldn't make up his mind whether to become a painter or a draftsman—so he became an actor. His name was John Barrymore.

Charlotte Cushman was going to be a singer. Her father sustained business reverses and could no longer finance the girl's musical training. But friends contributed the necessary money. Then she strained her voice on high notes and that ended her chances.

Undiscouraged, she turned to the study of dramatics and became the greatest American actress of her day.

Another girl, ambitious for a career as a singer, went to a teacher in Paris. He listened to her for one song and then said, "You have no voice; go back home."

Everybody has heard of Jenny Lind, the "Swedish nightingale." Her tour of America has never been equalled for the enthusiasm of the throngs. She was the most famous singer in the world. She was the girl that the teacher said could not sing.

Jimmy Walker, New York's most celebrated mayor, once asked, "Why do college professors always wear single-breasted suits?" Then he answered his own question, "So that the Phi Beta Kappa key will always be in sight."

Negro Quartet Is Summer Lyceum

The Robinson Deep River Jubilee Quartet will present a program July 12. This group has never before performed on the West Texas State campus.

The program will consist of ever-popular Negro spirituals, ballads of Dixieland, and semi-classics. The Negro quartet is being sponsored by the committee of Special Programs.

Who Is to Pay For Needs of Health Program

The World Health Organization of the United Nations has restricted its budget to $7,300,000, but does not expect to get more than $6,300,000 from the government during the year 1951.

It is pointed out that the great killing diseases of mankind can be eradicated. Moreover, projects for long-range economic development of the world require that they be eliminated if this goal is to be obtained. Nevertheless, governments and legislatures throughout the world show some reluctance to appropriate money for the fight for health.

The United States, it should be noted, is expected to contribute thirty-five per cent of the total budget. This is a relatively small amount in comparison with the sums available to the American government. Nevertheless, the principle behind the appropriation recognizes disease as the common enemy of mankind and its eradication as the common duty of all nations.

This is an interesting development in world relations. It poses something of an example for the people of the world in connection with their local problems. Obviously, the experts figure out what is good for the world and then call for the money to do the job. The funds must come from those having the money, whether the job is done in a poverty-stricken country or not.

If we should apply this reasoning to the people who live in Canyon, the community, as a whole, would take stock of its human values and, thereafter, outline the objective of greatest possible development, calling for the necessary funds. So far, we have not yet reached that stage in local affairs and even in world affairs, despite the highly-touted world organizations, the contributions have been poltry in comparison with the needs.

Everything is dangerous to him that is afraid of it.—Benjamin Whichcote.

Diabetes Becoming Public Health Problem in Texas

Death rates from diabetes is three times as high in diabetics whose condition was not discovered until after complications developed than for patients whose illness was recognized and brought under treatment before advanced systems appeared.

Based on recently completed national studies, this was revealed Thursday by State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox.

"Diabetes has not always been a public health problem," the health officer declared. "It became one when we found that the death rate is much greater when the condition is discovered late."

"Public education makes for a lower diabetes death rates, and public education in such matters is a health department job."

Dr. Cox told this story about diabetes: "It used to be that many diabetic patients sought treatment only after having developed serious complications. A considerable number of all diabetics examined at autopsy showed active pulmonary tuberculosis."

The discovery of insulin gave physicians a specific treatment for prolonging patients' lives, even before it was entirely clear what the disease was and what its effects were. Thus, even after event took place with insulin therapy, eventually leading to the realization that early discovery means longer life.

"Diabetes mellitus"—called sugar diabetes by some people—is a condition in which the body cannot properly process the sugar it needs. The result is chronic thirst, hunger, and weakness. Eventually, without insulin, the patient will literally starve to death. Insulin injections will correct the faulty body processes.

"In 1949, there were 739 diabetes deaths in Texas," Dr. Cox said. "By comparison, that same year there were only 189 polio deaths."

"It's the family physician who is in the best position to discover diabetes or a pre-diabetic condition. That's just one more point in favor of regular medical check-ups," the doctor concluded.

Paul G. Hoffman, ECA Administrator: "If you really want to appreciate it (American way of life), just go abroad and find out about the rest of the world."
